

MARCUS MCCAULEY

Marcus McCauley was blessed with the gift of playing the piano at the early age of six. He was banging away on his grandmother piano when she stopped him and told him that he had a gift of music. She enrolled him in piano lessons the next day.

From that day forward, the Oakland, California native became a serious musician. He won awards for best classical piano performance during his grade and middle school years. He played at many churches in the bay area and was recognized for his piano performance.

McCauley only applied to one school to further his studies in music. He was accepted to Berklee College of Music in the spring of 2004 and graduated with a B.A in Contemporary Writing and Music Production and Music Business and Management in the spring of 2009.

At the age of twenty-four, McCauley has shared the stage and worked with notable people in the music industry such as Shelia E., Burt Bacharach, Carl Wheeler, John Beasley and many others. As of now McCauley is a working composer, arranger, musician, producer, and constantly striving to be innovative in everything he does.
